Utah’s entrepreneurs continue to amaze and delight me with their ideas, tenacity and talent.

During this past year, we’ve assisted more entrepreneurs than ever before. Each of our programs has grown, and we continue to serve many more clients looking for training, education, guidance, encouragement and advice.

The Miller Business Resource Center strives to keep up with the demand we’re seeing as a result of our strong economy and willingness of Utah citizens to roll up their sleeves and create businesses.

As we know, the Utah economy is primarily supported by small businesses. Our challenge in supporting small business is keeping pace with creating awareness about our programs and serving their needs for training, R&D, prototyping and new product development, as well as funding to support innovation.

At the Miller Business Resource Center (MBRC), we’re doing our best to respond to the needs of today’s entrepreneurs. Here are some of this year’s achievements:

- Re-branding and re-launch of The Mill. Our coworking and incubation space has a new look and feel, and is now known as The Mill. We’ve seen numerous coworking spaces emerge along the Wasatch Front and The Mill is at the forefront of providing solo-preneurs and start-ups with a community in which to work and thrive alongside their fellow entrepreneurs.

- The Salt Lake Small Business Development Center (SBDC) reported record numbers in capital infusion for clients they assisted and saw a record 609 clients, an increase of 12% over 2017-2018.

- The Veteran Business Resource Center has been a tremendous addition to our suite of services and is demonstrating the talent, potential and need for veterans to receive support in their business endeavors. Last year, we served more than 248 clients throughout the state and saw a steady demand for entrepreneurial training and advising.

- Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Businesses trained an additional 85 small business owners during our fiscal year and enjoyed visits from the outgoing CEO, Lloyd Blankfein as well as the newly appointed president of the Goldman Sachs Foundation, Asahi Pompey. This 6-year program has now trained 570 small business owners in Utah and is demonstrating tremendous impact on the small business economy in Utah.

As we work to keep up with demand, the MBRC staff continues to provide high quality engagement with each client we serve—from our conference center attendees, to our refugees, and those who are served by Miller Catering and Cafe.

We are changing the start-up landscape and putting Salt Lake Community College on the map when it comes to being recognized as experts in our field and as professionals in community engagement.

We look forward to serving you!

PROGRAM INFORMATION

The Business Incubator was re-branded in 2019 to The Mill at Miller Campus, including a new logo and website, and updated office space. The new brand will attract new companies and start-ups, as well as compete with the many coworking spaces on the Wasatch Front.

The Mill at Miller Campus assists entrepreneurs with their business ideas through a supportive, open culture where mentorship and collaboration are encouraged. By providing coworking spaces, The Mill is helping to build the next generation of businesses.

Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Businesses (GS10KSB) is in its 7th year and has now trained more than 570 business owners across the state. GS10KSB continues to have incredible results for alumni, their employees, and the business community at large. After 30 months, almost 80% of companies put their growth plans to work and increased revenue. In that same amount of time, nearly 60% of companies added jobs. There were 15 companies from the SLCC program that made the Inc 5000 list. Incorporate Massage was the highest rated at 678. GS10KSB is currently recruiting for Cohort 22 starting March 2020. Business owners are encouraged to apply for this scholarship-based program. Minimum requirements include: 2 years in business, $150,000 annual revenue, and 4 full-time employees.

SLCC Alumni in conjunction with Mircea Divricean, President and CEO of the Kostopulos Dream Foundation, and cohort 4 alumni, hosted a panel discussion with the trade delegation from Romania.

The local team hosted a roundtable with 15 Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Businesses Alumni. Held at the downtown Goldman Sachs office, we were joined by the newly appointed President of Goldman Sachs Foundation, Asahi Pompey, GS Managing Partner and Salt Lake’s General Manager David Lang, SLC Mayor Jackie Biskupski and SLCC President Dr. Deneece G. Huftalin.

Carrie Mann with Purple Moss Photography, an alumni of the Goldman Sachs 10,000 Small Businesses program, photographed the team.
Program results show that 10,000 Small Businesses graduates consistently grow their revenues and create jobs at rates that outperform the broader economy.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

The Park City Business Resource Center is dedicated to helping small businesses achieve their goals of growth, expansion, innovation, increased productivity, management improvement and success. The Center works to promote and assist small businesses in all stages of development. Experts in the field work in partnership with entrepreneurs to provide crucial information and support that can mean the difference between success and failure.

EVERYDAY ENTREPRENEUR PATHWAY PROGRAM

In April, we graduated our 4th cohort of Everyday Entrepreneurs. This group of 11 found themselves together for 14 weeks on their collective journey to starting businesses. A network organically formed among the scholars that grew outside the class. Upon graduation, 8 students pitched, 6 were launched and 4 had paying customers by week 12.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

The Everyday Entrepreneurs Pathway Program (EEPP) helps entrepreneurs take their idea to launch in 14 weeks. EEPP is open to anyone looking to launch a small business in 90-120 days. EEPP provides laser focused, fast-track training to help entrepreneurs launch quickly.

EEPP started two Park City and one Miller Campus cohort and will expand throughout Salt Lake and other SLCC campuses.
The Veterans Business Resource Center (VBRC) is designed as a gateway for accessing the best and most reliable resources available for veteran entrepreneurs and their family members who seek to start or grow their business in Utah. The VBRC works closely with the Utah Veteran-Owned Business Partnership to serve veteran business owners and entrepreneurs throughout the state by providing one-on-one advising, resources and related business events. Led by Richard P. Brown, PhD, the VBRC has experienced significant statewide growth and increased veteran small business startup activity.

The Executive Certificate of Global Business Management course is offered to business professionals and entrepreneurs who wish to increase their knowledge and improve their strategies in global business practices, and expand operations to foreign markets.

REFUGEE LEADERSHIP PROGRAMS

PROGRAM INFORMATION

YOUTH REFUGEE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM
The Miller Business Resource Center, Utah Department of Workforce Services and American Express held a graduation ceremony for the second Youth Refugee Leadership Program. Many youth refugees struggle with integration into society, staying in school and finding a support system. The new Youth Refugee Leadership Program helps young refugees connect with their communities, teaching them to be the leaders of tomorrow.

ADULT REFUGEE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM
Adult refugee students visited the Utah State Capitol where they learned about policy and lawmaking. The program teaches valuable concepts that help refugees navigate the complexities of living in the United States and connects them with resources to assist their cultural communities.

ADULT REFUGEE LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

21 youth refugee students in the Youth Refugee Leadership Class participated in a team building and bonding day at Camp K. The youth were taken through various games and group activities designed to teach them to solve problems, work together and step out of their comfort zone. They climbed rock walls, balanced as a group on a teeter-totter and worked as a team to rope swing across an expanse. The program is designed to teach today's refugee youth how to lead in their communities, their schools, and their personal and future professional lives.

25 students completed the Adult Refugee Leadership Program.
